

Good Fortune and Followers of the True Law

Gabriel

What bothers me the most lately is that there are quite a few followers of the True Law who although they benefit from exceptionally good fortunes, are not truly worthy of these blessings. Precious and valuable souls, on the other hand, seem to be gritting their teeth and bearing difficulties day after day without their hopes ever being realized. The ordinary followers of the True Law who still retain much of their false selves (especially the younger members) who are blessed with fortunes beyond anyone's dreams have egotistical aspects and narcissistic tendencies without ever being aware of it. These individuals often make such emotional statements as, "how can I ever repay Heaven which has blessed me with such good fortune?" And they repeat such phrases over and over as if to convince themselves of their own sincerity. As one angel representing the will of Heaven, I would like to make it clear that Heaven is not moved by such words, no matter how beautiful they sound, unless they are accompanied with action.

If you have been blessed with good fortune in the third dimension while many followers of the True Law are being dealt the opposite fate by the scourge of evil spirits, and you are not sure whether you are worthy of this good fortune, you must never forget those things which you promised us through Miss Yuko Chino. You must remember that Heaven is waiting for the day when the beautifully phrased words such as "how can I ever repay Heaven for this?" or "I will do . . . for Heaven as an expression of gratitude," are put into action.

Those of us in Heaven and especially I, Gabriel, wish to strictly warn people who have been blessed with unexpected good fortunes while being unworthy of it, against thinking that this came from Heaven. It could simply have been the fickle mistake of fortune, or a cunning trap set by evil spirits, because it certainly was not a gift of love from us. Naturally, if these individuals act on those things they swore and promised Heaven, we shall accept them as being worthy of their good fortunes. Yet, if they fail to act on these promises and just loudly advertise their good fortune like singing birds, I warn that they will not be able to bring their good fortune to Heaven with them, just like those who have found happiness in the third dimension but have already been informed of the eternal extinction of their souls. The reason for this is, difficulties work to develop one's character, while good fortune invites moral decay.

By the same token, I must warn those who believe that the attitude of eyeing innocent people with suspicion to trap them is not the Right View and the Right Thinking¹⁴. I must also warn those who mistake tolerance to be not questioning the behavior of anyone, and those who speak up on behalf of people who are rash and regard them as being valuable persons. Neither of these types can be said to be walking on the path to Heaven.

(October 7, 1982, Dictated to Yuko Chino through her clairaudience.)