

The Threat of Communism and Socialism

Michael the Great

It was close to the end of last year that I thought 1981 would finally arrive and give rise to new hope, but unfortunately the world seems to be heading in the opposite direction from that willed by those of us in Heaven. Japan is being led astray by the foolish and stubborn Prime Minister Suzuki, Chief Cabinet Secretary Miyazawa and the Minister of Finance Watanabe, so the landslide towards becoming a socialist country seems to have already begun.

Most of you who read this are either followers of the True Law, or people with an interest in the True Law so it is most likely that there are no illusions about the ultimate political consequences of this. Nevertheless, if there are any who think as the communists and socialists advocate, that in socialist countries "human rights" are the very first consideration and that "equality and the rights of workers" is the second most important consideration, they will learn regretfully how greatly they were mistaken as soon as these leftist parties take over the government (either as a coalition or singularly). This is because in socialist countries militarism and totalitarianism are added on to a feudalistic system just like in Japan before the war. Socialism is nothing but a name borrowed from totalitarianism where the life and liberty of individuals are sacrificed for the sake of the country or the government.

During the Second World War more than 36 years ago, militarism dominated Japan completely and freedom of the press was totally nonexistent. The only news coverage of events was for the purpose of maintaining the national pride and for inducing the populace to follow the policies of the government. Thus the citizens of Japan were caused to become happy or sad or proud just according to the lies of the government. The final outcome of this was that the Japanese people had to swallow the terms of unconditional surrender which was tantamount to losing their country. They even had to endure the humiliation of not being able to draft their own constitution. Today, 36 years from that time, the Japanese people who lost their identity in this process still are afflicted by a mental disease wherein they do not know who they really are, or how they should speak and act.

In this continuing state of a political and moral vacuum, the communists in Japan who were like puppets to the Soviet Union took advantage of the confusion in the populace in an attempt to establish an arena in which to exercise their power and authority, and they came up with all the cunning schemes they could to attain the insidious control of the minds of the Japanese people through influencing the educational system and the mass media. Their plans have succeeded beautifully.

The people of Japan after losing the war as well as their pride and identity were suddenly given their freedom after the oppression of a restrictive militarist regime, and not knowing what to do with such freedom, they spent their days aimlessly like a ship which had lost its rudder. The people of Japan have been able to speak and behave pretty much as they please after they lost their leaders in the war, but as may be expected, they were weak when faced with the organized plots of the Socialist and Communist Parties.

Along with the many students and young people with communist ideology, those women who sacrifice themselves for the sake of the Communist Party, as well as those women who devote themselves in service to the Socialist Party, are simply being manipulated to dance around like puppets since they are unable to see through to the plots and ambitions of these leftists. Furthermore, the most unfortunate thing is that since these individuals do not realize that they are being used, many of them go as far as to sacrifice their life and this becomes an even greater factor in leading the Japanese people astray.

Even before the concern about the destruction of mankind through pollution of the environment, those of us in the Celestial Realm today are worried about the creeping threat of communism and socialism in the world. We are watching the developments in Japan especially closely. The foolish leaders of the so-called Japanese government do not lend an ear to our warnings, and instead exercise their power just as they please without even heeding the opinions of wise individuals in their counsel. Thus the leaders of Japan only go in directions which lead to the demise of their country, and right at this moment they are moving in this dangerous direction.

Japan which is dreaming of peace and freedom under the protective cover of the defense of the superpower, the United States, will surely be attacked under any pretense by the Soviet Union once they become serious about exerting control over Japan, just as they did in Afghanistan. Or otherwise inside Japan, the communists will start a revolution and seek help from the Soviet Union just as the Karmal regime did in Afghanistan. Once this happens, the military intervention of the United States will be too late, and all of Japan will be engulfed by the red wave of communism just like Afghanistan has been.

If you wish to keep the freedom and peace that you have today in your country forever, you must not lend an ear to false cries for "human rights," or for "peace and equality." I want you to instead seriously think over what each one of you can hope to accomplish over the coming year, and to convey the love and will of Heaven to as many lost and confused souls as you can in order to awaken the people. Those of us in the Celestial Realm are not the ones who are going to lose our country; it is those of you who live on the third dimension.
