

The Things the Heavenly World Seeks in You, the Followers of the True Law

Raguel

This month I will be delivering the message.

Actually this month there are some questions that I would like to ask you. They are:

- (1) What was the righteousness taught by Heaven?
- (2) Why did you gather under our guidance?
- (3) What was the aim of the Celestial Realm?

Those of you who are able to answer these three questions clearly without hesitation are people who are seeking the truth. Yet it is a great mistake to think that those of us in the Celestial Realm are happy just because you are able to answer these questions. This is because even though you may be able to answer these questions, it does not necessarily mean that your words are accompanied with action. You must reflect on your own life—on how great your self-indulgence and instinct for self-preservation is. While you continue to depend on others for direction and remain indecisive yourself. Are you not just acting as though you are a devout follower of the True Law?

This is no different than those who try to spit up to Heaven. Why is it that some of you never seem to make any progress? I do not understand the reaction of some people who regard those things which happen around them as being somebody else's business.

Just the other day there was news that a world conference on protecting forests was held in Nairobi, and that a resolution was passed there. No matter how various resolutions are passed and movements are proposed idealistically, it is useless if these are nothing more than empty rallying cries.

You should reflect on your daily life. How many resources and how many sacrifices need to be made for you to exist each day? For those who only seek after the knowledge of the True Law it may be impossible to understand the situation where one's very existence is part of the cause of the problem.

You may think this is being too strict, but we cannot continue to wait on you as before. We must address those who continue to possess childish personality traits. The correct beacon of Heaven's will which only has a limited amount of time left to broadcast the message will deliver a torrent of charges and reprimands. Why is this so?

What is it that you plan to leave your children? Is it money, a house, or some property? When these possessions are acquired without any effort, all that will happen is that the heirs will fight tooth and nail over the inheritance. This is because young people today are self-centered and generally give no thought to the hard work of their parents. More than half of the young people today are this way. Can you say for sure that this does not apply to your own family?

Are you not in dire distress right now over similar problems? When people put their values in things of this world, it binds them up in the web of greed and attachment to completely trap and immobilize them. This is the outcome of not listening to our repeated warnings and continuing to harbor many false selves so that no matter how one studies the True Law, one's soul, with even one's heart, is not elevated in the least. How can such people hope to exalt themselves? These people are not even aware of their own miserable condition of being trapped in a vicious circle. These are truly pitiable people.

There is no value in things of this world. The things we seek in you are a beautiful soul matching the vibrations of Heaven, and the strong will to fight against evil. The ordinary values of this world are of no use to us. It is unreasonable to think that you can get out of examining yourself when you are on the path of seeking the truth in all things.

It is a complete waste of time to study the True Law without having any self-knowledge. What is truth for if not for you to reach a higher awareness and to apply the True Law in your daily life? You must calmly reflect on what we are seeking in you.
